

Stephen Lyons is excited to return to the CHSRMB for his third season as marching instructor. He holds a B.A. in music and an M.M. in trumpet performance from the University of Connecticut. Stephen enjoys a rich freelance performing career as an orchestral trumpet player, church musician, and quintet member with the Boston-based Nautilus Brass. His drum corps experience includes five seasons with the Boston Crusaders (2001-2005), during which he won back-to-back gold medals in Individual and Ensemble competitions in the Solo Mellophone division. He serves as visual designer for several competitive programs in the tri-state area, including the 7th Regiment Drum & Bugle Corps, perennial DCI Open Class finalists from New London. He currently resides in Vernon with his wife Dana, who frequently carpools with him to marching band rehearsals.
